MUCILAGE.-A new, ingenious and very convenient Bottle and brush has recently been invented by Thaddeus Davids & Co. for this article-a liquid glue, which has become almost indispensable to the countingroom. A brush inserted by a screw through the top of a metalic cap, which fits loosely the mouth of the bottle, just touches the mucilage and may be moved up and down at pleasure, thus taking up no more than is required, and never coming in contact with the sides of the bottle. For convenience and newness we commend this improvement to those who use the article.

BROOKLYN ITEMS.

PERRYWINKLE AREAD -Perrywinkle enjoys a good oke, but that of the Fifth-st. jokers was rather too steep. For them to come to his house late at night in women's petticoate might be fan to the participants, but how would it be with Perrywinkle in case Mrs. Perrywinkle declined to believe the petticoats were worn by males instead of females? At any rate Perry winkle would have satisfaction upon the jokers, and accordingly he laid his plans. Porrywinkle was confijokers would call around again to try his exhilarating fluids, and so they did. The fluids went down freely and the spirits of the company went up in a corresponding ratio. The jokers winked knowingly at each other, as much as to say, "Percywinkle's wine-cellar suffers to-night." Presently Perrywinkle introduces a " rare article, they had never drunk the 'like before." "Rare brandy, with peculiar qualities," The brandy was freely drunk. Eventually there was a full among the jokers; they felt a squeamishness all around, a sort of internal derangement decidedly uncomfortable. Presently a joker stepped out for "a moment," another ditto, another and another, until finally the party were gone; and as the door closed Perrywinkle burst out in laughter and proclaimed: "That jainp and brandy has done it-Perry-'winkle is ahead."

July are unofficially stated at $46,000, against $30,500

The article entitled " Early History and Present Condition of the Michigan Central Railroad," published in our commercial columns yesterday, contained an important typographical error, in stating that the business of the road had been unprofitable instead of profitable. We republish the article corrected in this days' paper, and call the attention of these interested in the Western Railroads to its statements. At 4 o'clock this P. M. there were about $350,000 in gold registered at the Collins Office for Wedneslay's steamer. The shippers are Belmont, Pickersgiil, Stuart, Goodhue and Dennistoun, $50,000 to $100,000 each. The small shipment by this steamer has had a very favorable effect in the street in strengthening the confidence of business men in the future of the Money market.

A semi-official statement of the charges against Mr Edmonds has appeared, but as the charges are libelous if they could not be substantiated, we do not feel disposed to publish them; and, moreover, it is not asy to understand from the statement exactly what is charged against Mr. E. From what can be understood, however, we are free to confess that the matter appears to be of parturient mountain description, and should never have been allowed to transpire outside the Bank. As the Bank has broken the implied understanding that both parties should let the affair quietly drop, it may be that Mr. Edmonds will now feel constrained to make public his defense.

The business of the Clearing House was $15,348,000. The increase in bank loans was by a typographical error printed this morning $1,344,000 instead of $1,034,000.

The appexed Breadstuffs statistics are from Edward Bill's Circular for the steamer: EXPORT OF BREADSTUFFS TO GREAT BRITAIN AND IRRLAND, FROM 15T SEFTEMBER, 1134. Flour, C. Meal, Wheat, Corp.

The circular of Messrs, Marie & Kanz gives the an nexed interesting table showing the Bank movement of the past two years:

"The system of publishing weekly statements of the condition of the Banks of this city having been in operation since Augus, 1833, we are now able to give the following summary of the comparative movement of the two years. Under the column of discounts is included also loans on stocks &c.

In making the comparison between the two years we find a slight diminution in the Discount line during the second year with an increase of about onefifth in specie and deposits. The figures below in ficating the average of capital are an approximation, the others are exact:

In comparing the specie with the discounts, we find hat the discounts on the 28th of the past mouth might have been $101,500,000, without exceeding the average of the last year, (the proportion being then 13 71 4 cent) or $125,000,000, without exceeding the average of the preceding year, when the proportion of specie was 10.72 per cent. Beside, it is necessary to renember that during the two years the disproportion between the importations and the exportations of the country rer dered certain large exports of specie, while now the importations are so much reduced that the banks may expect to retain a large portion of the gold received from California during a year to come.
